The Rooster

The Newsletter of the Central Ohio Emmaus Community
Volume 28 Number 2, February 2011 www.centralohioemmaus.org

One. . . . what would you do if you could only influence one life this year? If all you had time or resources for, was to give what you could that one person in your life could have a different future, would you give what you have?

Would one person mean enough to you to invest what you have on their behalf? And what would you do if you couldn't even pick that one person to give your time or resources to, but instead had them chosen for you?

Would you count the cost, or count it all as lost? Would you pray in hopes to influence who that person might be, or waste time wandering in the wilderness, attempting to negotiate (in vain) for the person you would prefer to invest your life in? You don't have to answer; it's really between you and God anyway.

Now imagine this, what if the one person who gave His all that you (and I) might have a different future, had paused just for a moment to count the cost. What then?

We don't have to imagine this do we? Because Jesus didn't pause, at least He didn't pause to question. I do believe He paused to look at those in the crowd and those yet to be and know that we would never have to wonder if He would die, just for us, just for one.

So now what will we do for one? This year as a sign of gratitude to our Savior, my prayer is that each of us reading this letter will encourage someone to attend an Emmaus walk and meet the One who walked to Calvary, just for one.

DeColores,

Nanette Overly

Thought for the Day

Can I be a Christian without joining other Christians in the church? Yes, it is something like: being a soldier without an army, a seaman without a ship, a business man without a business, a tuba player without an orchestra, a football player without a team or a bee without a hive.
